

How to organize a small room at home

At present, the trend indicates that houses are built smaller and less spacious, so homes with large corridors, large rooms and patios are becoming less common. Therefore, it is necessary to know how to organize the design of small houses to make the most of every corner.

Save space in the room

This place is the gathering place for the family and guests. There are things that we can do thinking about the design of small houses so that it looks spacious and cozy.

1. Use wall mounts for your TV and other appliances.
2. Use fixed shelves to put your china and vases.
3. Use floating shelves for the library.
4. Change the furniture for cushions. If you can't do it because you can't do without them, choose small, corner and sofa-bed type.
5. Use dining rooms with hidden chairs.

Save room space

In the design of small houses, the rooms are increasingly smaller rooms where very few things fit. Keeping it tidy and uncluttered helps maximize space.

1. Choose sliding door cabinets.
2. Use three-stall hangers so you can organize more clothes.
3. Use drawers with lids that you can put under beds to store clothes and shoes. If you don't have or don't want to have a closet, this is a great idea. If you have children, these boxes are very practical to store toys.
4. Built-in tables that are built into the wall and detach when you need them are a good idea to save space.
5. Use floating cabinets in the spare headboard space where you can store your favorite books, jewelry, and other important items.

Save space in the kitchen

One of the things I've noticed, not just in my kitchen, but in my friends' kitchens, is that we fill our drawers with accessories that we rarely use.

1. Have only the necessary accessories in your kitchen and if you never use a microwave, better sell it. Having something in case you "need it someday" is a lousy idea.
2. Put a board with points to hang the most used utensils such as knives, juicers and small pots.
3. Integrate studs or hanging shelves under the cabinet to place utensils.
4. If you have an American-style kitchen, take advantage of the space under the tables to put drawers and store objects.
5. Put a hanging bar or shelf under the sink to put cleaning supplies (mitts, sponges, Fabulous, etc.).

Save space in the bathroom

The bathroom is the narrowest place in some houses, but although it may not seem like it, using these small house design tricks you can take advantage of the little space you have.

1. Turn the space under the sink into a mini cabinet to store towels and toilet paper. On the doors of the furniture you can stick transparent cloth bags to store gloves, cleaning liquids, brushes and other bathroom toiletries.
2. Put furniture on the toilet or empty spaces to store combs, makeup, hairdryers and other items of greatest use.
3. If you use a large mirror, it will give the feeling of being in a more spacious place.
4. Use hooks on the bathroom curtain rod to hang items of constant use such as soaps, creams and other toiletries.
5. Put bars behind the bathroom door to hang towels for immediate use.

As you can see, the method to optimize the design of small houses is to put your creativity into practice. In addition, you can find various accessories in several stores that you can use to make the most of the space you have. With these ideas you will get a more orderly and beautiful home.
